Final (?) thoughts

Enhanced Safe Browsing for your account

Faster, proactive protection against dangerous websites, downloads and extensions. Requires browsing data to be sent to Google.

- Keeps you safe and is used to improve your security in Google apps, such as Chrome, Gmail, or Chat, when you are signed in
- Improves security for you and everyone on the web
- In Chrome, warns you if passwords are exposed in a data breach
- Sends URLs from Chrome and Google apps to Safe Browsing to check them. Also sends a small sample of pages, downloads, extension activity, and system information to help discover new threats. Temporarily links this data to your Google Account when you're signed in, to protect you across Google apps.

Security is a double-edged sword:

- increased security may have impact on privacy or convenience
 - in this case privacy
- trade-off I am willing to make

Would you rather let Google know what you are up to?

The Microsoft Store

Some Great Microsoft Store Apps For Windows 10

The Microsoft Store

We're looking at the Microsoft Store over four sessions.

- Part One: What Is the Microsoft Store?
- Part Two: Desktop Apps vs Microsoft Store Apps A.
- Part Three: Desktop Apps vs Microsoft Store Apps B.
- Part Four: Some Great Microsoft Store Apps for Windows 10.

The Microsoft Store

Reminder

Depending on who you listen to, the term 'Microsoft Store Apps' can refer to:

- ANY app from the Microsoft Store,
- OR
- A UWP app from the Microsoft Store.

For the sake of consistency and clarity, in this series of presentations, the term 'Microsoft Store Apps' will refer to ANY app from the Microsoft Store, and UWP will refer specifically to a UWP app from the Store.

The Microsoft Store

Most of the info for this session came from the articles

‘The 20 best Windows Store Apps’

and

‘The Best Apps in the Microsoft Store’

The Microsoft Store

Both of these articles focus mainly on apps based on the Universal Windows Platform (UWP). Keep in mind that the UWP versions of many apps are optimized for use with a touchscreen.

For most of these apps, you can download the Windows desktop version from the app's website and (sometimes) the Microsoft Store, the Android version from the Google Play Store, and MAC, iOS and iPadOS versions from the Apple App Store.

Evernote Touch

Cross-platform note-taking app Evernote lets you save notes, pictures and videos and sync them across multiple platforms and devices for easy reference, letting you access your notes, ideas and important information anywhere you've got a data connection. Users can organize their notes and files into notebooks for handy access, while tags let you quickly search for keywords.

Wunderlist

Wunderlist is another popular and powerful to-do list app that delivers great features to free and premium users alike. It's a nimble and efficient task listing app, equally at home with simple grocery lists all the way to detailed daily itineraries and project work assignments. Users can share lists with friends and colleagues, attach photos and files, set custom reminders and organize your tasks and notes.

Flipboard

Flipboard takes the idea behind classic feed readers and gives it a highly visual, magazine-like spin. Simply subscribe to a variety of categories or check off your favorite websites, and Flipboard presents you with a personalized magazine filled with the content you're looking for.

Flipboard

This app allows you to add your own newsfeed content, as well as browse through custom reading lists made up by other Flipboard users. In addition to news stories and articles, you can connect it to your favorite social networks such as Facebook, Twitter and Google+ in order to view your social media streams from within the app.

Flipboard aggregates content from social media, news feeds, photo sharing sites, and other websites, presents it in magazine format, and allows users to "flip" through the articles, images, and videos being shared. Readers can also save stories into Flipboard magazines.

Dropbox

Dropbox is the go-to solution for many people's online storage and sharing needs. Dropbox is a Web locker for your files, documents, photos and other data that you can access anywhere (as well as download for offline access).

Dropbox as a great way to share files for collaboration or upload new material, and to send files that are too big to

VLC Media Player

VLC is a great all-in-one media player that will play just about anything you throw at it from audio to video files, as well as trickier formats such as OGG, FLAC and MKV. with minimal fuss and maximum configurability.

VLC Media Player

Power users will probably want the Windows desktop version on their computers instead of the UWP version. An Android version is available from the Google Play Store, and MAC and iOS versions from the Apple App Store.

Adobe Photoshop Express

Sometimes, you don't need a cutting edge, overly complex photo editing suite when all you want to do is clear up some red eye and punch up the colors. Adobe Photoshop Express serves as an entry-level photo-editing app, providing useful photo-editing features packed into a free app.

Adobe Photoshop Express

That said, IrfanView , which has been demo'ed for us several times over the years as it evolved, does most of the same basic photo editing just as well for the same price (free), and Linda and Chris have done several presentations on other great photo editing apps.

Khan Academy

The screenshot shows a video player interface for a Khan Academy lesson titled "Solving linear systems by graphing" by Anand Prakash. The video content displays a coordinate plane with two lines graphed: $y = x + 3$ and $y = -x + 3$. The lines intersect at the point $(0, 3)$, which is labeled. The video player includes a progress bar at the bottom showing 0:00:00 / 0:08:29. To the right of the video player is a sidebar with a list of related topics: "Solving linear systems by graphing", "Solving linear systems by substitution", "Solving systems of equations by elimination", "Solving systems of equations by multiplication", "Special types of linear systems", and "Old video on systems of equations".

Khan Academy aims to provide "free world-class education for anyone anywhere." They host thousands of free online tutorial videos for a wide variety of subjects, from biology, chemistry, physics, K-12 mathematics, to history, civics and computer programming. An adaptive testing system allows learners to practice at their own pace, while a stat-tracking and badge system provides helpful metrics as well as a gamified element to learning.

Khan Academy

I highlighted Khan Academy because it's a great not-for-profit site. You may want to go directly to their website instead of using the Microsoft Store app.

The website also has resources for teachers and parents as well as for students.

TuneIn Radio

Whoever said that radio is dead hasn't been listening to TuneIn Radio, which gives listeners access to more than 60,000 radio stations world wide, as well as millions of on-demand programs and podcasts. Users can search for a wide variety of content, from their local radio stations, favorite artists, teams, comedians or talk show hosts, as well as big name channels such as ESPN, BBC, CBS and more. An additional neat feature for the app is the ability to pin your favorite channels to the Start Menu for easy access. You can access some of TuneIn Radio's features through Amazon Alexa (Echo) and Google Home.

OneDrive

OneDrive is Microsoft's flagship cloud storage service. For people who don't want to deal with the somewhat fiddly desktop folder, the app is a great alternative.

The app's painting engine mimics the analog effects of brush on paint, complete with blending effects and a virtual palette for mixing your colors. Fresh Paint users can start from scratch, or color in photos and templates. A variety of paid and free art packs add additional features and images to paint.

The Microsoft Store

The two articles I mentioned at the start of the presentation feature many more apps that you might want to check out than I've had the time to cover here.

Keep in mind that many of the apps they cover are basically a 'wrapper' or portal to just some of the features of a website (e.g. Amazon), and you might want to go directly to the site itself.

Do you use any apps that you find useful that other members might be interested in? If so, feel free to give a short presentation during one of our Q&A sessions.
